NAA is hiring a Director of Advocacy and Workforce Initiatives

The ideal candidate will be inspired by NAA's mission and passionate about building equity, access, and connections. They will be a systems-level thinker who will use their exceptional communication, organization, coalition-building, and advocacy skills to:

1. Increase political and philanthropic will, policies, and funding that supports increased workforce recognition and job quality.
2. Gather data and support data collection and communications efforts to understand more about this essential workforce
3. Create systems to Recruit, Retain, and Advance the Members of the Profession - from direct service to leadership with a particular focus on building leadership pathways for people of color in the field.

Applications are only accepted online. Submissions received by 10 AM ET on Monday, August 16, 2021, will be given full consideration. To learn more/apply:
