Hands-On Quality Standards Self-Assessment Training

Every out-of-school time program can benefit from regular and honest self-assessment. To assist program staff in measuring and improving their program quality, the Arizona Center for Afterschool Excellence is proud to offer the AzQSAT, a free online tool that gives OST program directors and site coordinators the ability to assess their quality and track their improvement over time!

We're bringing this training straight to your computer for FREE:

This will be our first webinar! Take a seat at your own computer on March 1st from 9:15-10:15 and take part in our join.me webinar.

In our one hour webinar, participating programs will learn how to register for and navigate this powerful, reliable, and FREE online tool! Programs are encouraged to follow along with the online tool during the webinar and get started on their very first self-assessment. Whether you're just getting started with the AzQSAT or need a refresher, don't miss this webinar!

New PHXTeens Mobile Recreation Sports Van

PHX Teens Mobile Recreation is designed to make community engagement available to youth by visiting remote locations where structured recreational programming is not offered. Mobile Recreation will add park programming for sites without a community center to operate after school hours, 4pm to 7pm, during the school year. Programs will be geared towards youth providing them with recreational opportunities for physical activity; STEM programs; arts, culture and crafts; gaming and open recreation play.

SPOT127 East Valley Youth Opportunities

SPOT127 East just opened and enrollment is still open for their Spring semester! If you have an interested high school student, or know any high school students in the East Valley who may be interested in broadcasting, digital media, journalism, let them know about this new opportunity to learn about media in the modern era from some of the Valley's premiere educators.
